THE BARRINGER FAMILY

The Barringer family in Ashley County is descended from John Paul Barringer who came from Germany to America in 1743. He settled in Wyoming Valley, Pennsylvania. There in 1749 he married Ann Eliza Eisman. With his wife and two small children, Catherine and John, he set out from Pennsylvania for the rich region of Yadkin and Catawaba in the Piedmont section of North Carolina. When they reached Anson County, now Cabarrus County, they picked a lovely place and decided to stop and carve out a home in that area.

As he prospered, he began to think of his parents, brothers and sisters in the old country, and soon sent for them to join him. His parents died on their way to this country and were buried at sea. The mother's name, Pauline and the father's name, Mathias are recorded in the records of St. John's Lutheran Church. His brothers, Hans George and Mathias, and his sisters, Mary Elizabeth, Katherine and Dorothy made the trip from the old country safely.

John Paul's wife, Ann Eliza Barringer, died in Cabarrus County, North Carolina before 1776, and in 1777 John Paul was married for the second time to Catherine Blackwelder. They had 10 children: Paul, Mathias, Martin, Sarah, Esther, Daniel, Leah, Mary Ann (Polly), Jacob and Elizabeth. John Paul Barringer was a patriot and preformed civil service during the Revolutionary War.

John Barringer, son of Ann Eliza and John Paul, was born June 22, 1752, in Pennsylvania. He married Christina Burlingein in 1770. They had nine children: Catherine, Paul, George, John, Jr., Betty, Mary (Polly), Daniel, Leah and Sarah. John was a captain in the Colonial Militia of North Carolina in the Revolutionary War. He died on August 25, 1817, in Cabarrus County, North Carolina.

John Barringer, Jr. was born September 20, 1779, in Cabarrus County. On July 5, 1800, he married Anna Catherine Moyer. He died December 9, 1833, and along with his wife, was buried in St. John's Lutheran Church cemetery. Their children were John, Nathaniel, John A., Edmund Green, and Martin.

John A. Barringer<sup>5</sup> was born April 29, 1808, in Cabarrus County, North Carolina. He was married on October 9, 1832, to Christeana Harris (born June 9, 1814). Their children were <sup>1</sup>Maria L., <sup>2</sup>Martha L., <sup>3</sup>Amanda H., and Carolina, all born in Cabarrus County. John A. sold his land there and started out for Arkansas, taking the southern route. Their next child, <sup>4</sup>William Henry, was born January 15, 1843, in Alabama. The next child, <sup>5</sup>Sarah, was born in Arkansas on September 23, 1844. Their other five children, <sup>6</sup>Josephine, <sup>7</sup>Mary, <sup>8</sup>Georgia, <sup>9</sup>John Albert and <sup>10</sup>Stephen Harris were born in Arkansas. The Barringer family is not listed in the 1850 census of Ashley County, but are listed in the 1869 census. All the children of John A. and Christeana Barringer married in Ashley County and have descendants still living there.

The youngest son, <sup>Daniger</sup>Stephen Harris, was born September 28, 1857. He married Lula Lee Wells, a daughter of Harrold and Sarah J. (Gilbert) Wells. She was born in Portland on December 27, 1863. Both died in Portland; Lula Lee on January 15, 1918, and Stephen Harris on October 12, 1927. They had eight children: Harrold H. md. Annie Gay Wallace; Ona L. md. Joe Flick; Addie L. md. John H. Fish; Louis O. md. Jenie Machen; Effie md. Ben Frank Curtis; Henria E. md. Jack C. Palmer; Stephen H. Jr. md. Sula Hayes; Cleo md. Hilliard Burns Machen (son of Montgomery and Samuel Elizabeth Nobles Machen). Cleo and Hilliard Machen had one daughter, Elizabeth Ann (born April 22, 1930, in Ashley County), who is currently a professor in the Physical Education Department at the University of Central Arkansas, Conway, Arkansas.

Bynums

The origin of the name Bynum was old Welsh given name Eignon without the silent y. Bagnokana, Bene-on translated phonetically into Bynum. Immigrants were English with an Anglicized Welsh name.

John Bynum of Surry Co. Va (b c 1615 England d 1691 Va. M. Rakamand Blodgett) was an early settler and his sons John and James Bynum seem to be have left male descendants and was is the ancestor of the majority of Bynums in Tennessee.

James Bynum b c 1666 d 1724 M. Elizabeth Mizer daughter of Luke Mizer and had three sons. William b c 1690 Va m 1723 Mary Fort daughter of John Fort and Elizabeth Jordan other sources James & John.

William moved to Ile of Wight that settled in Bertie precinct of N.C. in 1724 in Edgecomb Co N.C. where he died 1746. Their children were William, Luke and James and others. William eldest inherited his land. Luke's descendants come to day. James was a regulator and took part in early uprising in 1770s. in Orange Co N.C. which was dominated by Tariffs, big plantations on the shore Counties exploited the inland citizens politically.

excessive fees and taxes; official corruption and other abusive powers. This is the period before the Rev. War when Patrick Henry made his famous speech "Give us Liberty or Give us Death". There was a "Hillsboro Riot", Regulators against the local "Court-house ring". The court was forced to adjourn. Regulators picked the court complained that they could not obtain justice in it. James and others were prosecuted, their lands confiscated and sold at public auction at absurdly low prices. James Byness land was bought by Ralph McNaire Tary. Title transferred 9-16-1773. James moved to new frontiers. The irony is that Ralph McNaire eventually got his consuppance; as a Tary he was forced to flee the state during the Rev. War. In 1784 James Byness land which McNaire had gotten was auctioned to satisfy a debt to Luke Bynum. Luke was also on the high bidder and obtained his brother's land adjoining his land. James was in. To be a ca. probably served in the war.

Luke Bynum (b. 1730 Orange Co. N.C. d. 1810)
m. 1761 Martha (Patsy) Patterson daughter of John Patterson and Sarah Topley. They had eight children: Topley, William, James Mark, Sarah, Patsy, Rebecca and Edith.

Luke appears to have extracted some measure of revenge for Mc Nairs' treatment of his brother James Bigner, was a very active whig, he patented 700 acres between New Hope Penna and the Saw rivers in Orange Co. which later became Chatham Co. In 1778 recorded his stock mark: "a swallow fork in the right ear and crop in the left and his brand L B." In 1755 Orange Co. tax list - He mustered a company of militia at his place in Chatham Co 1765, which later became "Snipes Place", became of strong Tory activity around him he moved from Farmington to New Hope, where whigs were dominant along with many cousins.

Japley was a Rev War soldier of Mc Hillsboro District Chatham Co. William Clark lived near the Bynums in Chatham Co. in 1810 John, James & Ezekiel Clark. Japley eldest son of Luke to 1761 Orange Co, named for grandmother Sarah Japley was first Bynum to carry ~~that~~ this unusual name. He ~~and~~ his brother William Japley, his brother William and several relatives moved to Maury Co TN; there in 1820 moved to Hickman Co Ky. H. M. Anne Rikman (b 1763 - d 1848), both died Calloway Ky.

THE CONE FAMILY IN AMERICA

At the beginning of the American Revolution there lived somewhere in the British Isles, in England, or in Scotland, or in Ireland, three young men whose family name was McCone. The British military, needing soldiers to help put down the rebellion in America, drafted these three brothers, put them in the army of King George, the third, and shortly they found themselves in America facing an enemy whose army was made up of men just like themselves--same language, same religion. All these people wanted was the right to establish their own government with liberty and justice for all.

Already unhappy about being drafted and torn from family and friends, perhaps these three brothers reasoned that fighting against these people was not to their liking. May be the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness which these people wanted appealed to them. At any rate McCone boys made plans. They would desert from the British army, change their name, and go over to the Americans. So they dropped the Mc from the family name making it just plain Cone. The idea back of this name change was to avoid severe punishment from the British should they ever be captured and tried for desertion.

Nothing is known of the military campaigns in which they participated while serving in the American army. It is plausible to surmise that they were present at the siege of Yorktown, Va., when General Cornwallis surrendered the British army to George Washington, ending the war. This theory is further <sup>substantiated</sup> ~~substantiated~~ because ~~the~~ subsequent authenticated events are recorded as happening in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama. These events indicate that the three Cone brothers spread out to the south and east after the war ended at Yorktown.

It seems that one of these brothers was named Acey, sometimes called Ace, who settled in North Carolina, or Georgia. He had a son named Jesse Cone who married a girl name Sarah Bailey in Georgia. They had nine children.

THE CONE FAMILY

At the beginning of the American Revolutionary War, there lived somewhere in the British Isles--either Ireland, or England, or Scotland; there seems to be some doubt as to which country--a family whose name was McCone. There were three brothers in this family, all under age. One of these brothers whose name was Acey (Sometimes called Ace) was the ancestor of the descendants mentioned hereafter.

The British military, needing soldiers to help put down the rebellion in America, drafted these three brothers, put them in the army and sent them to America. Already unhappy about being drafted and abruptly separated from family and friends, perhaps these McCone brothers reasoned that fighting against these Americans was not to their liking. It may be that the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, of which there was very little in the British Isles at that time, which this new nation advocated appealed to them more than the chance of living happily back in the Mother Country. Then, too, they spoke the same language, and were descendants, three or four generations removed, of the same kind of people as themselves.

So these McCone boys decided among themselves to slip away from the British camp and go over to the American Continental Army. Nothing is known of the military campaigns in which they participated while serving in the American army during the rest of the war. It is plausible to surmise that they were present at the siege of Yorktown, Va., when General Cornwallis surrendered the British army to George Washington, ending the war. This theory is further substantiated because subsequent events that have been recorded as happening in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama indicate that the Cone brothers spread out to the south and west after the war ended at Yorktown. (They had changed their name from McCone to Cone when they joined the Americans. This was to avoid severe punishment by the British should they fall into the hands of the British and be charged with desertion).
